Dear Parents,

Today, during the College Assembly, we acknowledged those students who have excelled academically in the first semester this year. It was very pleasing to note the number of students (over 100) who were acknowledged during the assembly. We also highlighted the achievements of the FCIP students at the Catholic Colleges Music Festival during the Exhibition break.

A highlight of the Assembly was the announcement that Declan Michelmore, from Year 12, had won an Australian Defence Force Academy Education Award. These awards are highly prized and difficult to attain. Declan now has the opportunity to enter ADFA to further his study in 2017.

The guest speaker for the Assembly was Fr Paul Rout ofm. Fr Paul is an ‘Old Boy’ of Padua having been awarded Dux of the College in 1966. During his speech, Fr Paul reminisced about his days as a student and teacher at Padua. He spoke about the significance of a Franciscan education and urged the students to seek answers to the important questions that surround them in the world.

You may have noted a more excited tone from your son/s in relation to the Padua College Tuckshop. It is true that the menu has changed and that there is a great volume of food available. Over some time now, we have been reviewing the operation of the tuckshop and in conjunction with Robyn Layton, we have realized that the operation needs to change to meet the needs of an expanded school and the statutory requirements of government bodies. Therefore, we have engaged the services of a qualified chef, Mr Michael Chambers, to oversee the operations of the Tuckshop.

I would like to take the opportunity to thank Robyn Layton for the service she has provided over several years as the Canteen Convenor. Robyn will continue working in the Tuckshop as an assistant to the Chef.

Volunteer parents will still be required in the Tuckshop and reports from last week are that the volunteers are enjoying the experience of working under the direction of a Chef.
Many boys and families have already embraced the cashless Flexischools system for use at the Tuckshop and Uniform Shop and I advise that the Tuckshop will go totally cashless from the start of 2017. If you have not already done so, you can register for Flexischools cashless system from the link on the College website http://www.padua.qld.edu.au/about-us/services/flexischools/

As we enter the last three weeks of the term, we are beginning a very important academic phase for most of our Year 12s. Next week, they will engage in the QCS Tests, followed by their all important Term 3 exams. The Year 11 students have begun their leadership education course which culminates in their Year 11 Leadership camp after their exams. The rest of the school continues with their various assessment programs. All in all, it will be a busy three weeks for everyone.

Best wishes to all!

Language is powerful, potent, it shapes perceptions, thoughts and attitudes, and sharpens reality. That is why I am disappointed that in so much of our Catholic liturgy the language is “masculine”- be it in our Creeds, in the revised edition of the Mass with its meaningless linguistic gymnastics, and in the Divine Office recited by priests and religious. It has its irony, when a good 80% of those at Mass are women. What do women think when they hear the words at Mass, “for us men and for our salvation.” Or when under the auspice of the then Archbishop George Pell the language of “The Catechism of the Catholic Church” was turned from inclusive language to exclusive terminology, e.g. “by his reason man recognises the voice of God”, or “the sacraments sanctify men.” Is this not a form of subtle discrimination? Is this not an injustice to women that divides the church and institutionalizes their second class status in the church. Women want to belong, women want to be counted, but women do not want to belong by being called “men”. Exclusive language indicates and reinforces a system in which the male is normative and privileged over the female. No, language must not be used to exclude women.

The failure of the church to address women as women is effectively to make them nonpersons who need not be dealt with, and that simply overlooks more than half the Christian assembly. The consistent use of male vocabulary blurs the development of the female self image in the Catholic church. If the language the church uses makes women non persons, they why would anyone feel it a natural thing to deal with them in a diocese, in a parish, much less in a Vatican Sacred Congregation.

If we are really serious about the role and value of women in the church, then changing the language of the church is an action that is tangible, achievable and without theological uncertainty. Bishops can change it, priest celebrants and preachers can change it, and women can change it themselves for the sake of the growth of the whole church itself and the dignity of other women, and publishing houses can readily change it.
Think the parable of the Good Samaritan - this is the story of COMPASSION. Compassion establishes a real connection with other people through understanding, sensitivity, and participation in their suffering. Each of us is fragile, vulnerable, and easily hurt, and that at some stage we need the compassion of others.

Without providing solutions or answers, compassion brings healing and health. We reach out to others, endeavouring to understand their sufferings and alleviate their distress. It is a defining characteristic of a Franciscan way of being with people. It is an ability to be with others, to listen to them in their pain and suffering. Francis did not live in a monastery waiting for people to come to him for help and understanding, he took the initiative and moved out into the villages of Umbria to offer compassion.

This is especially so with Francis in his encounter with lepers, who were treated with disgust by society, and by the church as they were seen as riddled with a dreadful and contagious disease. Most important and central to Francis' own religious experience, was that in meeting the leper and reaching out in compassion, Francis met God-the God of humility and vulnerability!

In the life of Francis we see a young man grow and mature from a self-absorbed and materialistic young man to the humble, sensitive and compassionate holy saint beloved by millions.
As I begin writing this Bulletin article I am fortunate enough to be sitting at Amaroo with 90 Year 10 students who are about to embark on an expedition style outdoor education program. By the time this article is published, all of Year 10 will have completed the camp. Encompassing themes of journey and leadership, the boys are anxious and excited for the 4 days ahead. Having just spent the last day and a half with these young men discussing leadership and motivation, I am proud to say the senior cohort of 2018 will be one to look forward to!

House Athletics Carnival

Congratulations must go to Mitchell House on their victory in the junior House competition and the senior House competition this week at the College Athletics Carnival. As overall champions on the day, Mitchell House were quite dominant on the track and on the field.

Commendation must go to all the boys for their fantastic participation on the day, with special mention to the Odoric and Kirby Year 5 students who were unfortunately beaten by staff members from the Pastoral team in the Tug-Of-War.

Student Absence

In the event a student is absent or is going to be absent, all families should prioritise contacting either:

The College Absentee Line: 3857 99 00 or the

College Absentee Email: absent@padua.qld.edu.au

All Absentee information should come from a parent, guardian or carer.

Students emailing their own absentee information will not be accepted.

Raising Young Men – Tip of the Week

To compromise is not weak, it is an important skill for life. Let your son know that to walk away from a fight or to negotiate an agreement demonstrates strength of character and a level of maturity. It can also be the ‘manly’ thing to do.
It has been another event filled term for McMitchell Home and we have had some wonderful moments along the way. Over the last 2 weeks McMitchell clansmen have been eagerly watching the Olympics and supporting the Australian team. Each student was given 2 athletes from the 422 strong squad representing Australia at Rio and were required to send a hero message to each of them. Boys were then asked to track their athlete’s performance and would earn points if their athlete won a medal. The competition encouraged the boys to engage in an event with tremendous history and it was hoped this would inspire them leading into the last Inter-house competition of the year to make some history of their own.

It was hard to imagine improving on 2015 but the McMitchell clansmen went into the athletics carnival attempting to be the first House to win all House competitions and secure both the junior 5-8 and senior 9-12 trophies for each of the respective carnivals. After an inspiring performance from our junior recruits and tremendous contributions from age champion Zac Timbs we secured half of the double with a win in the 5-8’s.

Our seniors had been busily accruing points over the last 3 weeks through the pre-carnival events run during lunchtimes and were well positioned coming into carnival. Age champions Max Johnson and William Barker contributing to a record breaking win in the 9-12 age group resulting in an overall win to the men in blue.

A big thank you to Alex Lloyd, Rhys Hoole and year 9 leaders Conor Donovan and Alistair Wood for the leadership and support they provided for the competitors. I was humbled by the efforts and dedication I witnessed from all the young men in McMitchell and am proud to be a part of this historical moment.

We are well and truly past the half way mark of the year and it would seem the year has flown past us yet again. A big two terms of sport and co-curricular activities have seen a great number of Grigg boys from years 5 to 12 put their hands up to represent their College in the many opportunities we offer. So much so, that the Grigg House is one of the top Houses currently leading in participation rates across all Houses. I have to take my hat off to all young men of Grigg and say well done! You are all living the House motto, "may I be of use", by having a go at collecting for a charity, singing in a choir, debating, playing chess, helping out at Open Day, participating in the Winter Sleep Out, playing a sport or one of the many other opportunities Padua offers, you are being of use. I might also add, I believe that along the way of participating in as many opportunities the College offers, you are also developing as a young man. You are developing many new life skills, improving weaknesses, fine tuning strengths, making new friends and facing new challenges. Well done Grigg House.

On another note, it was great to attend the recent year 12 Formal over the Ekka break and see our year 12 men, dressed up to the nines with their beautiful dates experiencing the finer details of socialising at a formal event. The boys all showed great etiquette in looking after their companions with many proudly introducing their dates to the staff present.

Just this week gone, the College held its annual House athletics and allowed many boys of Grigg to display their athletic talents. I would like to take the opportunity to mention some of the younger lads who had notable performances and competed in multiple events doing the House proud; Jack Green, Ryan Pembroke, Will Chester, Hamish Reid, Copper Hall, Allen John and Danny Heenan all competed in multiple events, well done. As well, Ryan Pembroke and Danny Heenan came 2nd in the age championship, with Ryan Creeley posting a 3rd in the age championship, and Will Chester in fact ended up sharing the age championship for the under 12 age group. A big thanks to all the young athletes who put their hand up on the day to represent the House.

However, what was more noteworthy for the day, was the performance of the year 11 leadership group who were given the opportunity to lead the house with the year 12's in war cries. Being the only House to actually participate in war cries all day, displayed by far the best house spirit. Hats off to them, I applaud them as it shows a valuable characteristic that to be competitive and want to do your best along with the right spirit, is the right step towards success in so many ways. We may not all be the best athletes on the track and field, but we certainly are not going to back down from a challenge. This I believe is a valuable life lesson towards personal success and what makes being a Grigg House member so special.

In closing, I look forward to attending and being involved in the upcoming year 11 leadership camp for Grigg House. It is a challenging and enjoyable camp in many ways and is an important time for the boys of the House to reflect on who they want to nominate to be considered to be School leaders in 2017.

Dear Padua Families

I hope this post Ekka time has been kind to you as pas through the last days of winter and begin to enjoy the re-awakening of the earth that is Spring. You could be forgiven in thinking with all the warm weather we have been having that Spring has already sprung!

Thank you to all those families who attended the Boyd-Boland House Eucharist on Wednesday night. It was a great celebration!

This week’s House Eucharist means that five out of the six House Eucharists have now been celebrated in 2016. They are important House occasions to which most families give it a high priority to attend. I thank all those families who have done this so far. However, a growing number of families find it too easy to excuse themselves from these events as if they were optional. Each House Eucharist is a calendared event with fair notice of their timing. Barring last minute emergencies every family should be represented at every Eucharist. The taking of rolls beforehand is not preferred but remains an option to check attendance on these nights. You always have the option of contacting your House Guardian directly explain your family’s absence.

Due to the postponement of the Mitchell House Eucharist earlier this year please note the new date for this event is now Thursday 22 September in the Little Flower Church commencing at 7.00 pm. Please not this new date in your family calendars.

During the Ekka Break 5 students from Years 10 and 11 accompanied Mr Chris O’Shea and myself on a visit to Timor-Leste, and in particular to St Francis of Assisi College. This is the college that we support each year in the Franciscan Appeal. Year 10 students Arthur Stower and Charlie Nicolosi, together with Year 11 students Charlie Shields, Flynn Kamp and Darcy Creighton were awesome ambassadors for Padua. This trip further cemented the strong bond of Franciscan brotherhood between our two schools. During our time there the group learned more about the culture and history of Timor-Leste, visited and worked at St Francis of Assisi College and met and built friendships with students from that school. It is hoped that this experience will become a biannual event. News for the next trip will be announced soon.
Each time a group of Paduans goes out on a Rosies Street Van outreach they take with them a number of items donated by the Padua Community. Beanies crocheted by the Cosies for Rosies Group are one of those items. Donated clothes and blankets are also taken.

If you are having a spring clean in the next few weeks (or any week for that matter!) your donation of second hand clothes and blankets would be gratefully accepted. Please bring them to school with your sons or leave them at the Front Office Reception Desk are welcomed. If you are unsure if what you have can be donated please call Mr O’Brien on 3857 9986 or Mrs Farry on 3857 9982.

Last Thursday Padua hosted a significant ceremony in commemorating the 50th Anniversary of the Battle of Long Tan. One Paduan was killed in that battle and another was killed later in another battle. Altogether 38 Paduans fought in the Vietnam War. Last week we honoured them by unveiling a special plaque which will become a permanent memorial in the college grounds. Nearly 200 guests who were Old Boy Vietnam Veterans and their families joined the Paduan Community to give thanks and remember events that took place. Lest We Forget.

If you have anyone who needs our prayers at any time.
Please email myself mobrien@padua.qld.edu.au or Sue Weston at admin@padua.qld.edu.au and we will publish the names of anyone you mention to us.

We pray for all of those people in our community who need our prayers.

We also pray for all the Padua Vietnam Veterans; those who killed in action, those that have passed away since the war and those that survived.

Enjoy these last days of winter as we make ready for the springtime of our earth. May we experience a re-awakening of our spirits as well.

Peace and all Good.

Thank you to those families who attended the 1:1 Device Information night last week. This evening was to inform our current Year 6 parents and new parents to the College of the updates to our current program. This information has now been placed on the College website and can be found at http://padua.qld.edu.au/technology/technology-at-padua/parent-advice-1-1-device-program-2017/

For those of you who currently have students in Years 9 -1 1, information will be communicated to you regarding amendments to the program over the coming weeks.

On Monday this week as part of our weekly Tech Checks in PC, students were reminded about the College expectations surrounding charging and care of devices. The College does not provide charging facilities for student devices and under no circumstances are students to go to the Datacom office to ask for a charger or to leave their device for charging. Making sure that devices are charged should be part of your son’s daily homework routine. If there are concerns about the battery lasting the day, Datacom can test the battery to check if it charging properly.

On another note, there are a number of boys who have cracked the screens on their laptops. This is something that needs to be fixed as soon as it happens. The advantage of having a school managed devices is that this is covered (in most cases) by ADP and if the repair will take a number of days, a replacement device will be provided. In some cases, students are leaving their screens until the glass has actually come away, leaving sharp edges. This causes more damage to the laptop and can lead to a more expensive and time consuming repair. I would ask that you check your son’s laptop and ask him to take the device to Datacom (school devices only) if there are cracks or breaks.

For our Year 5 and 6 students, there will be a lunch time Coding Club starting (Year 6 met last week and Year 5 next week) on Greccio. This will be a structured group with targeted projects and time frames to complete. Hopefully students will enjoy the challenges and working with each other to help solve problems and create some interesting projects. The first few meetings will be very much about setting the scene and getting organised, making sure that everyone understands the basic concepts and is willing to commit to the group. Keep an eye out for more news on this front!

A very special 60th Anniversary ‘Flashback’ following Thursday’s Padua Remembrance Day Ceremony honouring our Old Boys’ Vietnam Veterans.
The photograph is from September 5, 1966 – Padua Old Boy, Private Dennis McCormack’s flag-draped coffin travels on an artillery gun-carriage towed by a military Dodge truck. This picture is taken as his funeral procession leaves The Little Flower Church grounds, the length of Padua grounds on Turner Road flanked with Padua school boys and Mount Alvernia girls in a guard of honour. Dennis was laid to rest at Pinnaroo Anzac Garden of Remembrance.
